

The Paphos Beach Hotel was originally built in 1973, within walking distance from the town, Castle and close to the House of Dionysos with its stunning Mosaics. The first hotel built in Pafos, it is set in eight acres of landscaped gardens with uninterrupted views of the harbour.

THE CONCEPT: With its re-launch as Almyra, the resort offers a complete reinvention of the hotel experience. Defying categorisation, Almyra is a contemporary hotel attending to every need of the discerning traveller. Special care is taken in extending a family experience, with extra children's facilities and spacious accommodation to meet family needs.

Accommodation

Total Number of rooms is 190.

All rooms have a Mediterranean feel and are equipped with cable and satellite TV, video on demand, in room entertainment centre, including AM/FM radio, high speed internet access with Wi-Fi (wireless) technology, mini-bar, turn down service and hair dryer. Some of the rooms feature CD players and interconnecting facilities are available.

Rooms

- Garden View- 47
- Terrace Garden View- 23
- Superior Sea View – 39
- Veranda Sea View- 12
- Terrace Sea View- 16
- Aethon – 16
- Junior Suites – 8
- Kyma Suites- 20
- One Bedroom Suites - 6
- Two Bedroom Suites - 3

Restaurants

Three restaurants offering a variety of local and international cuisine;

Seaside traditional "Ouzeri", serving Greek delicacies for lunch.

"Notios Restaurant" an all day poolside chill-out grill & bar

The main restaurant called "Mosaics" offering freshly caught fish and international cuisine in the evenings.

Bars

Helios Lounge Bar- Indoor Venue
Pool Bar

Conference facilities

Mosaic I – 145 pax theatre style
Danae -106 theatre style
Helios- 40 pax theatre style
Hermes- 70 pax theatre style
Athina- 12 boardroom style

Leisure facilities

Two fresh water swimming pools (one designed for children) both of which are heated in winter. A wide range of water sports including scuba diving and sailing. Other facilities: a tennis court, indoor gym with whirlpool and table tennis.

New for 2008, Almyra will launch its own Spa this coming Summer. The Spa will reflect the contemporary style and affordable chic that characterises the hotel, with a focus on organic products and natural marine based skincare therapies. Using 100% pure ingredients, the Spa's philosophy will be to create complete well-being through health, beauty and fitness. It will be the first spa worldwide to offer JUST PURE's complete holistic lifestyle concept which uses natural products in tune with the rhythm of the moon.